

For validation 1, I went through to check each of my text and option inputs and then for text I checked the regex value to see if it satisfies the condition, and then after all checks are complete, I go through to see if they are all true and if so transition to next page. On the next page, validation 2, I first check email by checking if it is a certain format and then splitting it up and see if it satisfies all regex values. I then append the associated image with the boolean value it puts out and print the associated label to page. I then proceed to check the phone and address check in the same way.
